

18th JAN '90 CLUB NIGHT AT ASHTON
WITH BLACKPOOL, BOLTON & SOUTHPORT.

In harmony for the handicapped

LATE-night shoppers took a break from the Christmas rush to listen to the soothing sounds of the Preston Barbershop Harmony singers.

More than 25 members from the club entertained shoppers in the Fishergate Centre, Preston, with carols and nostalgic 1920s melodies to raise funds for the Chorley Linkability charity, which helps handicapped people.

Their singing was a success with passers-by but baritone Mr Bernard Davis said the flu epidemic hitting Lancashire had taken its toll of club singers.

He said: "The damp and cold at this time of year plays havoc with singing voices and when we turn up to an event like this we never know if we are going to have the right number of basses, baritone, leads
